TAXPAYER REPORT

As this is the final article prior to the election on next Tuesday, November 6, I wanted to confirm again why I am running for Sheridan County Commissioner. My goals are

- 1) Apply sound business practices to the operations of Sheridan County.
- 2) Actively solicit the opinions and input of the residents of Sheridan County so that our residents are involved in the decision-making process.
- 3) Keep the public informed about upcoming items for discussion well beforehand so that the public will have ample time to come and visit with the Commissioners and be involved in the decision-making process.
- 4) Move the Commissioners' Meeting to a time that is convenient for the public to attend, and to a place large enough to accommodate the public.
- 5) Make sure the taxpayers of Sheridan County are respected and appreciated. The Taxpayers are providing all the tax dollars that pay all the obligations here in Sheridan County and they deserve to be heard; have an active part in all decisions about spending; and to voice their concerns to the Commissioners at any time they wish.
- 6) Remind the Commissioners that they are NOT in charge the TAXPAYERS are in charge.

This election is NOT about Wes Bainter. It IS about all of us working together to ensure that we have a great community for the next generation. Your vote for WES BAINTER is really a vote for YOU, the taxpayer, and is also a vote for our community. Let's all work together and make our community GREAT!!

Thank you for your consideration, WES BAINTER,

Candidate County Commissioner District 1

Navigators Emphasize Comparison Shopping, Short Enrollment Period for Health Insurance Marketplace as Open Enrollment Begins

Now Scheduling Appointments for In-Person Enrollment Assistance Nov. 1 - Dec. 15

Sixty-two Navigators in the Cover Kansas network of certified assisters are ready for Open Enrollment in the Health Insurance Marketplace, which will be November 1 through December 15, Navigators provide free, in-person assistance that includes reviewing eligibility financial assistance, comparing health insurance plans and helping consumers enroll in the coverage of their choice.

As in years past, there are changes in the availability of some plans in the Marketplace, so Kansans are encouraged to schedule an appointment with a Cover Kansas Navigator by visiting coverks.org/search or calling 2-1-1. "People need to select a plan and enroll by December 15 and – due to the large number of people needing to enroll within 45 days – we encourage Kansans to get enrolled sooner rather than later," said Debbie Berndsen, Cover Kansas Navigator Project Director. Kansans do not need to wait to schedule an appointment with a Navigator – visit coverks.org/search or call 2-1-1 today.

Kansas are encouraged to compare the plan options at healthcare.gov/see-plans prior to their appointment with a Navigator. Existing Marketplace enrollees should have received letters from their insurance company and from the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) explaining the changes in health insurance plan availability for Kansans in 2019. These letters should be reviewed carefully. If existing enrollees don't take action by December 1, they will be automatically enrolled in the same or similar coverage. Existing enrollees should check to ensure their income and dependent information is up-to-date on Healthcare.gov.

Kansans without an offer of health insurance from an employer are encouraged to make an appointment with a certified Navigator. Financial assistance – in the form of Advanced Premium Tax Credits or Cost Sharing Reductions – may be available to help lower out-of-pocket costs associated with Marketplace plans.

Enrolling in health insurance can overwhelming but Cover Kansas Navigators are here to help year-round. Coverks. org helps consumers find Navigator, schedule appointments online in some areas, and provides a checklist of what is needed to enroll. Kansans also can enroll by visiting Healthcare. gov or calling the Health Insurance Marketplace at 800-318-2596.

Follow the Cover Kansas team on Facebook and Twitter to learn more about their work to improve access to health care and health insurance literacy year-round.

Commissioner Bielser Addresses Taxpayers

The question submitted to the Sheridan County electors in November of 2015 was asking permission from the voter to enter into a lease/purchase agreement for the purpose of modernizing the Courthouse and was voted down. However, that does not take away from the fact that the HVAC systems in both the Courthouse and Sheriff's Department are in desperate need of being replaced. Recently, personnel from the Sheriff's Office had to be treated for carbon monoxide poisoning because of the antiquated heating system. The same could happen in our Courthouse. Also, window panes are literally falling out of the windows in the Courthouse. One narrowly missed the Register of Deeds and another came close to hitting personnel in the Appraiser's Office. We have an obligation to at least look at options to repair and maintain our local governments' offices and buildings. Not to do so would be negligence. However, the Board of Commissioners has not committed to making any repairs at this time.

In the last eight years I have promoted advancing our road building program by hiring capable employees. In the future, I would like to develop a program of rebuilding the county roads and then applying asphalt millings for an all-weather surface. I would also like to see the road department have a crew solely dedicated to hauling road materials. By expanding our work force, fair compensation to employees, and supplying quality equipment it will add to our county's prosperity.

We have reorganized our recycling program so that it now benefits Sheridan County, not the Northwest Kansas Recycling group. We have invested in a baler and constructed a building (by a local contractor) so we can sell directly to the end-user of the recycled goods.

I support our local emergency responders by making sure they have the equipment that ensures their safety, be it the Sheriff's Department, EMS or rural fire. I am for expanding the services to the public, not diminishing any services that serve the residents of Sheridan County.

One important fact to remember is that the state legislature has basically impaired all 105 counties' ability to govern in a conservative manner. We also are tax payers, but we understand the restrictions that have been shoved down our throats and must have a reserve in order to protect ourselves if the unexpected should occur.

Thank You

Write-in Vic Bielser for County Commissioner and vote YES to continue the 1% Hospital Sales Tax.

Sheridan County Republican Party to Reorganize

There will be a meeting for the purpose of reorganizing the Sheridan County Republican Party on Tuesday. November 13 at 5:00 pm in the Courtroom of the Courthouse. All elected and appointed Precinct Committee Men & Women, along with any interested persons, are invited to attend. After the reorganization and election of officers, they will be reviewing applications for the vacated position of Sheridan County Register of Deeds and voting to select the person to fill the office

Conservation Speech: The Importance of Soil

Dear Editor,

I am a student who is currently enrolled at USD 316 Golden Plains High School. Our Speech Class has been researching soil life for the upcoming Conservation Speech. I would like to inform you and your readers about the importance of soil.

Soil can lose its properties over years and make the crops not be able to be as plentiful in its production. Your soils should be physical, biological, and chemically healthy. By physical I mean it should not be very compacted and clumpy. To fix this you can make sure you aerate your soil. To be biologically healthy is that it has microorganisms it; such as earthworms. To be chemically healthy you can occasionally check your pH levels in the soil. It is important for the farmers to not just plow land and not use it. You can plant cover crops to help keep the topsoil intact. Cover crops additionally help put back critical nutrients in the soil. There are many more reasons on why soil is important.

Thank you for your time and reading over some of the ways soil is important.

Sincerely,

Joshua Špresser

Inviting Celery Dishes
Celery belongs to the parsley family and is largely cultivated for its bleached stalk. The dry leaves are good for the flavoring soups and sauces, although it is to be found in the market in the fresh state almost all the year round.

Served fresh and crisp it is a most delicious salad vegetable; the long, white stalks, if surrounded with chipped ice, are crisp and cool and inviting.

Cream of celery soup is another way to serve the vegetable acceptably. As a dinner relish take the small white center stalks and fill them with highly seasoned cream cheese, surround with bits of ice and serve with the salad. Celery chopped and serves with bits of onion on slices of tomato with French dressing makes another palatable salad

Luncheon Celery - Take well seasoned cottage or cream cheese, form into cones with a small ice cream cone, drop on a lettuce leaf and garnish the top with a sprig of celery. Celery dressing in cucumber boats or apple cups is a well-liked combination.

Apple nuts and celery, one part celery, half as much nuts, and two parts apple, with a good boiled dressing, is the good, old-fashioned Waldorf salad. A most delicious celery sauce is made from broth in which a fowl has been cooked, adding cream and flour to thicken.

Fried Celery - Parboil celery until soft, after cutting in threeinch pieces. Drain, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and dip in batter, fry in deep fat, drain on brown paper. Serve with tomato

Inviting Dishes

String beans are delicious cooked slowly with a few tablespoonfuls of olive oil. Another way is to cook them with a piece of salt pork or bacon, or season with grated cheese, chopped parsley or chives.

Codfish Fritters - Take a cupful of shredded codfish which has been simmered fifteen minutes, cooled and Fellowship Church This morning, I was the first one up, so I got the cat snuggles. I spent the time praying also. After all, why not do both? As I stroked the cat's soft, black fur God whispered in my ear: 'You're the cat.

Micah Howery

Pastor

Christian

After the initial shock of God saying something so rude to me, I began to dive deeper and find the gems the Lord wanted me to God loves people. Our greatest purpose in life is to worship (love, admire, exalt) our Creator.

Like the cat, we are best when we are snuggled up on his lap purring or rubbing our faces against His.

And, that is when He enjoys us the most.

But humans are fickle. It's easy to snuggle with God on Sunday morning, or when things are going good in your life. But the rest of the time, we are busy... too busy to receive any love from Him or give any love to Him. He likes watching us play, but His greatest moments of enjoyment with us are when we are loving each other. At the wrong moment, God's attempts to pet (love) us seem annoying or scary and we pull away from His hand, or even try to bite Him.

Of course, God doesn't need our love, just like I don't need my cat's love. I have a wife and three kids to love and be loved by, and they are much better at it than a cat ever could be. But that doesn't mean I don't enjoy the cat's affection. Even if she is pretty odd about showing it at times.

Cats will often bite and claw when snuggling. It's a cat sign of affection. It's not a human one... generally. I know the cat means I love you", even if it doesn't feel like it to me. That's because the cat is a different species. Why would we show love exactly the same way?

I often wonder how much my affections toward God mean anything directly to Him. In other words, am I biting God instead of showing Him love the way He wants me to? Like me and the cat, however, God receives our love even if it is in an unusual way for Him.

So, what can we take away from this lesson of the cat?

First, do your job! Take time to love God directly through worship, prayer, fellowship and serving others. God enjoys watching you live your life, but your greatest purpose is to snuggle up with God and purr.

Second, learn what forms of love God prefers. This can only be done through the study of His word with lots of prayer; and it is a life-long process. God is very big. Knowing Him takes everything you have and then some.

Lastly, let God love you the way HE wants to love you: sometimes in blessings, sometimes in sufferings. Just because it is a form of love you aren't familiar with or don't enjoy, doesn't mean it is not love. Like my clumsy attempts to train my cats, God's love can seem harsh or make Him look evil in our eyes. Most cats hate it when you turn them upside down and cradle them. To a human, it is a natural instinct since that is often how we hold our young. To a cat it is a potential disaster.

And, as a bonus, love all of God's creatures, even if you don't like them. In many ways they are easier to love than people and can be a great training tool in learning how to love your enemies. So, get a cat, a dog, a snake, or hamster. Sit outside and let the fly crawl over your jeans. You will begin to learn how God sees the lives He has created; and always listen. God may have something to tell you that you'd never expect to hear... like "you're the cat."

Married on last Monday Miss Nellie Martin to Mr. Frank Gallagher, both of Saline township. The bride is well known in this city and all extend congratulations.

The saddest incident onnected with the murder of Mr. Harrison is that he was to be married on the 7th of November to the lady he loved. The plea of insanity of the murderers friends should not be allowed. Insanity that kills should die. Carter Harrison was one of the bravest men of his time. In cold blood in the quiet of his home he was shot like a dog without any warning. If such a miscreant can escape by the plea of insanity, no public man is safe. The death of Carter Harrison is a National loss. The prompt execution of his assassin will be a public blessing.

NWKS News

By John Liester Another week gone by. I tried fishing and that was a total bust. It's like they just stopped eating. But I will keep trying.

With my job I have the advantage of only working until noon on Fridays. Since Saturday was the opening day of goose season, I thought I'd better do some scouting. Oh boy, five Canada Geese, and one Snow. Needless to say, I was not too gung-ho about hunting Saturday. I spent the day with my wife and went to the craft show in Atwood; and, what do you know? About 100 geese on the lake there. Sometimes I think they like to

I haven't seen a lot of ducks around lately. They were here a couple of weeks back, but I think the nice weather has screwed up the migration a bit. But it will get colder, and they will come, and I will be ready!

Did an internal rebuild on my shotgun. Functions like new again! Amazing what new springs and small parts can do. It's not hard to do, just tedious.

The waterfowl reports are strange. One lake has thousands of birds, and a lake twenty miles away has nothing. Fickle things, ducks and geese are.

The fishing reports haven't changed much. In fact, at several lakes they haven't changed all year! Hmm. I will probably make a couple of more trips out, at least until freezing starts. I know in the spring I have caught good catfish when the lakes still had ice on the them. Open water with sunlight shining on it equals fish in the spring. Many years ago, I caught the three biggest bass of my life in February. Has anyone noticed a trend in the news lately? It seems whenever there is an election or some other political function, all at once we get these very convenient crises that just happen to attempt to make the President look bad. It doesn't, but it sure makes the other political party look shameful. Does the mainstream media really think everything happening is caused by Republicans? No, most of it is caused by the media and their liberal agenda. Never in my life have I heard such outright lies and deceitfulness as I do

We are in the heart of Senior Day season, several of which we have highlighted. But you do not have to attend a Senior Day to visit a school. If you give it at least a week's notice, schools are usually very likely to accommodate you. They want you to visit. And the visit will help you drill down to the schools you are most interested in. This is starting to become very important.

Seniors need to complete the FAFSA, and you can send the info to up to 10 schools (and you can add more later). This will give schools the info to decide how much needbased aid you qualify for, and in some instances affects scholarships. This will vary from school to school based on how much it costs to attend the school.

"I feel very fortunate to have had so many teams full of girls that embraced hard work and their own individual roles for the sake of the team. It takes so many people willing to do whatever it takes to make the team successful, and we have had so many of those selfless players. I'm just so lucky to get to work with so many amazing young women each year," said Head Coach Shannon Foster.

Gallons Save Lives

By Eidree Chapin, Editorin-Čhief

According to the American Red Cross, every two seconds a person is in need of blood. It is essential for surgeries, cancer treatment, chronic illnesses, and traumatic injuries. Whether a patient receives whole blood, red cells, platelets or plasma, this lifesaving care starts with one person making a generous Approximately 36,000 units of red blood cells are needed every day in the United States. One gallon is equal to 8 pints. Depending on how much blood is needed, usually, one pint of blood is capable of saving up to three lives.

Butch Weber, the head custodian at Wheatland High School, has donated five gallons of blood. In total, he has saved around 120 lives.

He was awarded with the five-gallon pin by the National Honors Society members. He also received a 12-pack of Pepsi and cans of Vienna Sausages, his favorite things to snack on. Weber said, "Anyone that can should give blood as it is a great gift."

Chapin Runs Her Final Race

By Morgan Zimmerman, Staff Reporter

Junior Eidree Chapin ran on Saturday, Oct. 20 in Tribune for the Regional Cross-Country Meet.

She ran a time of 30.35 minutes, while her best time of the season is 25.53 minutes. Unfortunately, she did not place and will not run at State. Coach Ed Mense said,

"Eidree's race was never indicative of her season. She unfortunately had some struggles during the early part of the race; however, her weeks leading up to Regionals marked her best times of the season."

Chapin's running teammates; freshman, Eli Gruenbacher; senior, Oura Chester; senior, Jonathan Jacka; sophomore, Bailey Watts; and sophomore, Collin Thielen from Quinter placed 3rd as a team and made it to State. Oura Chester also placed 10th individually. They will run in Wamego on Saturday, Oct. 27.

Mense said, "Eidree is the epitome of dedication...to not only run in a sport that is difficult, but to do it as the only girl on the team, she earned a great deal of respect as a person with great character.

She is hardworking, yes, but her character is truly what I admire about her. [Cross Country] has a great deal of lessons to teach, some good and some bad, and hopefully I have instilled a few positive life lessons that she can take with her. We will take these lessons and learn going forward as Eidree prepares for her senior campaign next year. Regardless of place, time, or finish...I'm very proud of that young lady."

KDA Offers Pre-Application for Industrial Hemp Research Program

In April, the Kansas legislature passed Senate Bill 263 to enact the Alternative Crop Research Act and charged the Kansas Department of Agriculture with implementing the Industrial Hemp Research Program. This fall, KDA requests that individuals who are considering participation in the Industrial Hemp Research Program in Kansas in 2019, whether as a grower, distributor or processor, submit a Pre-Application and Pre-Application Research Proposal.

The Pre-Application is voluntary, and it is not an application for a license; anyone who plans to participate in the spring will still need to obtain a license through the official application process after the regulations become effective. Those who submit a Pre-Application with a Pre-Application Research Proposal will have an opportunity for the Industrial Hemp Research Committee Advisorv informally review the research proposal to determine the likelihood of its approval when the regulations are effective. In addition, those who submit the Pre-Application will get direct notification as soon as the full research license application process is available.

The Pre-Application is not the full research license application; there is no fee requirement or fingerprint-based state and national criminal history record check requirement to submit the Pre-Application, although both will be required with the research license application when it becomes available. In the Pre-Application Research Proposal, potential growers, distributors or processors will be asked to explain in detail the research they plan to conduct in their participation in the Industrial Hemp Research Program in Kansas.

The regulations that will guide the Industrial Hemp Research Program are still in the midst of the approval process as outlined on KDA's industrial hemp webpage. A public hearing will be held soon, which will be one of the last steps prior to the adoption of the regulations.

The deadline for submission of the Pre-Application and Pre-Application Research Proposal is December 1, 2018. The Pre-Application forms and additional instruction – along with much more information about the new Industrial Hemp Research Program in Kansas - can be found at agriculture.ks.gov/ industrialhemp.

THE FORGOTTEN CROP: Kansas Legislature Legalizes Cultivation of Industrial Hemp

Like many farmers, Rod Flaman spends a fair amount of time thinking while sitting in his combine. Recently, hemp harvest had just begun, and he wondered if it would be on the upslope or the downslope of the seesaw trajectory that defined his experiences with growing industrial hemp since it was legalized in Canada in 1998. He also questioned the business acumen of a farmer willing to travel several thousand miles to give away hard-learned lessons to potential competitors in an already over-saturated market. It didn't make sense.

And yet here he was in Manhattan, Kansas, for the first of four meetings around the state devoted to reinventing an industry that had been virtually non-existent for 80 years.

"I realized that there are no secrets in the world," he said. Γhe cat's out of the bag.'

The meetings, sponsored by Kansas Farmers Union and Kansas Center for Sustainable Agriculture and Alternative Crops, were a response to Senate Bill 263, which was signed into law by Kansas Governor Jeff Colyer in April, and went into effect on May 3. The bill enacted the Alternative Crop Research Act, allowing the Kansas Department of Agriculture to oversee the cultivation of industrial hemp.

From the start, developing the regulatory processes needed to carry out the act's provisions were accelerated. Such processes normally take at least one year to complete, but staffers were given around seven months, or until the end of the year, said KDA Compliance Education Coordinator Dana Ladner.

Other meeting locations included Salina, Colby and locations Garden City.

Hemp, a variety of Cannabis sativa, a species that includes marijuana, ĥas a venerable place in agriculture. It was one of the first plants to be spun into usable fiber for clothing around 8,000 B.C., and it's used in building materials, biodegradable plastics, rope and textiles. Its high nutritional value makes it a staple with health products being produced today.

Though industrial hemp was used extensively during World War II for making military uniforms, canvas and rope, its importance as an agricultural crop withered after the Marihuana Tax Act of 1937, which levied a tax on commercial production. The Controlled Substances Act of 1970 made it illegal to grow the plant without a permit. Since legalizing industrial production in 1968, Canada has become the leader in the global health and food marketplace. Getting there, though, required a complete reinvention not only of the plant itself but the infrastructure needed for processing, Flaman

"The entire world forgot about hemp as a crop and how to use it," he said.

It took two years to sell the first crop he grew because the market was so small and volatile. It didn't help that he overproduced. "Which is what every farmer does," he said.

Those first years were heady, with markets generally on the upswing. After working up to 110,000 acres of industrial hemp in 2015, though, the markets were saturated, and the following year crop testers didn't contract for any hemp production. By the end of the year processors were short again. "It's a see-saw situation," Flaman said. "I think everyone thought the market would keep on growing and the rate of increase would go up, but the rate of consumption for hemp seed hasn't gone the way I thought it would or the crop testers thought it would."

Flaman mostly grows industrial hemp for the seeds using a midrange variety named X59. It provides a decent producing crop with yields varying between 500 to 1,200 pounds per acre, and grows to average height, which makes it easier on his equipment.

Even then, the length and toughness of the fibers pose challenges for combines. After all, he said, industrial hemp fibers are stronger than Kevlar, which is used in bulletproof vests.

"Fires are the biggest problem with hemp because of the long stalks and fibers," Flaman said. "Once they start wrapping, they're a little like Velcro. As more gets pulled in, the tighter they wrap, and that increases heat. A fire almost took the combine out this year right after we started the harvest.

Once fibers are wrapped around cylinder shafts, removing them can be time-intensive and backbreaking. Several years ago, he and an employee resorted to using hooked carpet knives to cut through the stalks. Afterward, the employee told him that he wouldn't come back if Flaman continued to grow industrial hemp. "I looked at it differently," he said. "That crop was worth a lot of money. Let's do it again." Flaman solved the problem by using puck board, a virtually indestructible plastic material, to enclose the reel and to protect the final drives under the combine from the hemp wrapping. With the reel enclosed, the hemp crop is forced down onto the sunflower pans and only one foot of the crop is run through the combine instead of three. Now there's very little tangling or wrapping, he

"It's a steep learning curve," he said, "but you can try anything."

"We tend to think of 800 pounds per acre as a decent crop," he said. "Two years ago, our hemp net clean production was 1,200 pounds an acre at a dollar a pound. For us that was fantastic. Today, with three inches of rain, I don't know what to expect. It's like any other crop, there are good years and bad years. It's all over the map."

There's still a tremendous level of potential in growing industrial hemp, he said. According to a Colorado producer he met at a convention in Calgary several years ago, growing hemp for straw or fiber could gross about $100 per acre, growing hemp for seed production could gross about $1,000 per acre, and growing hemp for health purposes or components could gross as much as $25,000 per acre.

"Does that strike a chord with any of you?" he asked a packed room of farmers.

The cultivation, growth, research, transportation, processing or distribution of industrial hemp or industrial hemp seed will only be allowed with a license as part of a research program, Ladner said. The term is based on the 2014 Farm Bill which mandates that any state choosing to legalize industrial hemp must label its production as a research proposal. Under the act, industrial hemp is defined as all parts and varieties of the plant Cannabis sativa L. that contain a delta-9 tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) concentration of no more than 0.3 percent on a dry weight basis. Growers will have to purchase certified seed from another state, and before planting, all native or wild hemp must be eradicated to prevent cross-pollination. The rules and regulations to acquire a license and otherwise carry out the provisions of the alternative crop research act will be complete before the end of the year, she said.

This October, interested participants will be asked to complete a pre-application, sharing their initial interest and research proposal. This preapplication, as well as license fees and rules and regulations, will be posted under the Industrial Hemp tab on the Kansas Department of Agriculture's website at www.agriculture. ks.gov/industrialhemp.

Applicants will need to state whether they intend to grow, process or distribute industrial hemp, provide maps identifying the locations of all

"A lot of paperwork goes with this," Ladner said. "It's very important when applying that you keep a paper trail.

Applications for growers, processors and distributors will be accepted until March 1, 2019, for the 2019 growing season.

Licensed growers are required to submit field planting reports within 15 days after planting, preharvest reports at least 30 days prior to intended harvest dates, and production reports within 30 days of the last harvest date. The information will be invaluable for assessing environmental impacts and planting techniques on different varieties of certified

"We're excited about industrial hemp growing in Kansas," Ladner said. "This is a brandnew adventure for Kansas. We want to work with growers. We want to know what works, what doesn't, where it grows best, and what economic benefits it offers for the state of Kansas. We cannot grow the Kansas economy in the industrial hemp world without knowing something about it collectively. We want to share with everybody what we've learned. As Rod said, there are no secrets."

EDITORIAL A Matter of National Security

By Viktorija Briggs

For the last couple of weeks, most of the U.S. has been watching a large group of Central Americans, mostly from Honduras, El Salvador, and Guatemala march north, en masse. The media refers to them as a 'caravan', and when it started out, it was already a crowd of about 1,200 on their first day. They are now an army of approximately 5,000 people. They profess to be immigrants escaping the political unrest of their respective countries, as well as the poverty. I can concede that some may well be. They're marching north to the U.S. border expressing their hope for a better life in the United States, but, at the same time, they are also flying the flags of the countries they're escaping like battle standards held before an army marching President Donald Trump characterized these migrants as an invading force, adding that the U.S military will be there to meet them at the border. "Many Gang Members and some very bad people are mixed into the Caravan heading to our Southern Border. Please go back, you will not be admitted into the United States unless you go through the legal process. This is an invasion of our Country and our Military is waiting for you!" the President tweeted also ordered 5,000 troops to the border to stop them.

Rather than bringing this country's people together, this 'caravan' has shown the extreme polarization of the American people. The majority (conservatives and Republicans) are in favor of defending and closing our borders, but the Democrats and liberals are screaming that we need open borders and to let them all in.

They fail to read, study, or fully comprehend the overwhelming evidence and statistics of what a disaster this would be. First, financially, we're already over-burdened with caring for all of the illegals already in this country, never mind our own who need attention; specifically, the poor, the homeless, our veterans, and other less-fortunate U.S. citizens. Second, the health issue this could cause is astoundingly frightening! We have eradicated or reduced to a great extent many, if not most or all, of the diseases these people carry and will bring into this country. With that, we also have the added problem of those in our populace who refuse to vaccinate their children out of fear for autism or some other disorder - all of which have been scientifically disproven, but the fear campaigns constantly continue online, so no one listens. It is an uphill battle for the scientific community to compete with the hourly onslaught of social media twisted facts, lies, and misinformation.

Another health problem is that these people are not familiar with our basic hygienic 'conveniences'. They rarely have flushing toilets, so their used toilet paper is thrown away - not flushed down the toilet. (I know this from experience when we lived in Texas. Public bathrooms were no place you wanted to 'go', as there were piles of used toilet paper all over the floors, and the smell was like walking into a sewer...and this was in any Wal-Mart or Target store, not some tiny gas station restroom off the beaten path. To accommodate their lack of hygienic habits, signs were placed in the stalls, Monday, October 29. He has and small trash cans in the stall corners...to little avail.) Are we supposed to allow this and so try to 're-train' or teach them our ways? How can we, when they won't learn English, they jump on our welfare system, and receive food, clothing, shelter, cell phones, and more, all on our tax dollars, because they've been told how generous we are, and that they deserve them.

> There is so much more that could be written on this subject. Every aspect of every American's life is impacted by this in one way or another, be it obvious or not. When that 'caravan' - army - reaches our border, I hope the army they meet will do whatever is necessary to stop them; and, let the liberals scream and cry "Foul!" all they want.

Commission Minutes 10/22/2018

Now on this 22nd day of October 2018, the Board of Commissioners, Sheridan County, Kansas met in regular session with Chairman Vic Bielser presiding. Others present were Joe Bainter, Troy Dewey and County Clerk Heather Bracht. Guests included Doren Follis, Wes Bainter, Viktorija Briggs and Rachel Farber.

The meeting was called to order by Bielser.

David Bingham, Landfill Operator entered the meeting. Bingham reported that he has enough posi-shell to get through the end of the year. With all the moisture, he has not had to cover as often. There was a lot of discussion on recycling. A truck is coming on Tuesday to pick up a load of recycled cardboard and paper mix went out last week. Bainter asked about the recycling trailers in Selden and Bingham stated they are to be checked twice a week. Bingham presented $500 worth of unpaid bills from a contractor. They will be turned over to the County Attorney for collection. Bingham will check with Champlin about picking up the motorgrader and truck tires and will let the board know what he finds out. County Attorney Joe Pratt entered the meeting. Pratt was given copies of the bills for collection for the landfill. Pratt advised the board he had visited with Larry Cressler but needs to talk with Paulette Feldt, Road & Bridge Supervisor again. Dewey gave the name of engineers located in Southern Kansas who will come out for free and look at the airport and see what kind of bid they can come up with for the runway. Pratt took note of the name. Pratt exited the meeting.

Dewey advised Feldt will be contacted to possibly set up forklift training with neighboring counties. There are also many safety videos that can be reviewed from KWORCC for all departments. Dewey stated he would be out of town until the 14th of November. The regular meeting that week would have been the 13th as the Courthouse is closed on Monday, November 12, for Veterans Day. The regular meeting will be moved to Wednesday, November 14. Ballots from the November 6, 2018 General Election will be canvassed on this day. Bainter stated that Charles Griffith wants $1.25 for sand, the County currently pays .75. The Board took a fiveminute break.

Paulette Feldt, Road & Bridge Supervisor and Loran Sulzman, Road & Bridge Foreman, entered the meeting. Feldt stated she needs cutting edges and the two bids received are quite different in price, so she will double check with both companies and be sure the bids are for the same quality blades. They cannot be soft. The two old pickups on the east side of the shop will be sold by sealed bid. Feldt contacted Heim TV, Joe Moss and Kenneth Weber about replacing the garage door on the west side of the shop and has heard no response. Feldt will contact Hi-Plains Door Systems in Colby as they have replaced a garage door before for the County. The Board discussed with Feldt the need for additional recycling trailers. Feldt stated there are two spares now. Possibly one more would be all. Sulzman talked about gravel hauling this winter. Due to normal work flow, it is difficult to get enough Road and Bridge employees to haul gravel. Sulzman will check with some local farmers who could be hired to haul gravel. All would probably like to use their own gravel trucks. This would be coordinated with Feldt. The Board and Feldt discussed the sand on Griffith's property. Bainter advised Griffith wanted $1.25/yd so it would have to be good gravel, and this would change what was paid to others. The feedlot road and other roads were discussed. The white truck that had been overhauled in Colby had to go back. The injectors had been replaced and when it was taken out for a test drive, it locked up. Feldt and Sulzman left the meeting.

Bielser made a motion to approve the October 8, 2018 minutes as presented, seconded by Dewey. Carried Dewey made a motion to approve payroll, seconded by Bielser. Carried 3-0.

The Board received an invitation from Western Prairie RC&D for their annual meeting and dinner in Oberlin on Wednesday, November 7. Joe Bainter will plan on attending.

Bielser made a motion approve the Copier Maintenance Agreement with Office Works in Colby for the copier in the Courthouse. Bainter seconded the motion. Carried 3-0.

The Board was given Mary Weimer's letter of resignation the Sheridan County Register of Deeds. Effective date is November 9, 2018.

Sheridan County Sheriff Brandon Carver Undersheriff Brian Diercks entered the meeting. At 9:30, Bielser made a motion to enter in to executive session for a period of 10 minutes for the discussion of nonelected personnel. Bainter seconded the motion. Carried 3-0. Present were the Board, Carver, Diercks and Bracht. The door opened at 9:40. At 9:40, Bielser made a motion to enter in to executive session for an additional 10 minutes, seconded by Bainter. Carried 3-0. The door opened at 9:50 with no decision being made. Carver submitted his letter of resignation as Director of Communications effective January 1, 2019. Carver feels the time it is taking to deal with the issues that have been occurring in dispatch, to no avail, are taking him away from his position as Sheriff. An ad will be placed in multiple papers for a Communications Director/Office Manager as the current office manager has also turned in her resignation.

Carver has received estimates from Meyer Electric and Midwest Energy for the light at the impound lot. He is waiting on information from Vitus' Service Center and Gary Smith. He should have bids on the dispatch desk next week. The flooring has been completed. Three dispatchers went to the emergency room last week with carbon monoxide poisoning due to an issue with the boiler. Carbon monoxide detectors have been purchased. The Sheriff's Office, Sheridan County Health Complex and Sheridan County EMS are working on a community grant to put on a program for opiate use and abuse. It would be for youth and adults alike. Total cost for the speaker will be $6,000. Bielser made a motion to pay the $6,000 in its entirety from the alcohol fund. Dewey seconded the motion. Carried

Carver reported that Bill Cousins is halfway through the academy and is doing

The Sheriff's office is still working on an article and survey for the canine unit. Dewey made a motion to approve Carver and Diercks attending the annual Sheriff's conference in Dodge City November 6-9 and for the spouses to attend and ride with them. Bainter seconded the motion. Carried 3-0.

The information for the Sheriff's Auction on the vehicles is ready to be published in the paper. Carver and Diercks exited the meeting.

Leonard, from Carey Johnson Controls, entered the meeting. Johnson Controls is a company that comes up with solutions for public entities for heating and air. Leonard heard about Sheridan County and the possible replacement of the heating and air system at the Courthouse during a meeting in which Mr. Howard, USD #412 Superintendent was present. Leonard looked at what the Courthouse currently has and suggests a VRF (Variable Refrigerant Flow) system. It is the highest energy efficient system available and can heat and cool at the same time. Johnson Controls manufacture their own equipment and subcontractors install the units. Leonard feels the windows would be done at the same time because it affects the load of the building. Leonard will take photos of the floor plans and come back with a plan.

Bracht will contact Kaw Valley Insurance about a quote for health insurance for the County. Chamber script was approved for county employees in the amounts of $100, $50 and $25 on a motion by Bielser and second by Bainter. Carried 3-0.

Bracht gave to Bielser correspondence received from The Sheridan Sentinel. The Sheridan Sentinel is asking the Board to consider changing the official newspaper for Sheridan County from The Hoxie Times to The Sheridan Sentinel since the owner of The Hoxie Times has moved from Sheridan County. Bainter made a motion to make The Sheridan Sentinel the Official Newspaper for Sheridan County, seconded by Dewey. Carried 3-0.

The following payroll was audited and allowed:

General $95,841.37

Road & Bridge $54,042.12 Noxious Weed $2,237.00 Public $4,730.40

Public Transp. $856.75 Landfill $2,193.15 Spec Auto $1,163.66

With no further business, Bainter made a motion to adjourn, seconded by Bielser. Motion carried 3-0. The next regular meeting will be Monday, October 29, 2018 at the regular time and meeting place.

Attest: Heather Bracht, County Clerk, Vic Bielser,

Royce F. Cook of Oberlin, KS passed away at the Mitchell County Hospital Health Systems in Beloit, KS on Saturday, October 13, 2018 at the age of 94. Royce was born to Floyd E. and Murttis I. (Farr) Cook on August 21, 1924, in rural Logan County Kansas. He grew up in Logan and Scott Counties and graduated from Scott City High School with the class of 1942. He was always bringing home "treasures" that he was sure he would use or need one day. Most of all, he loved his family.

Royce is survived by his wife Lola of Oberlin, KS; daughter, Sharon Zimmerman and Lyle of Grinnell, KS; brother, Dale R. Cook and Jeanne of North Platte, NE; sister, Joanne C.
