TAXPAYERS' REPORT

This past Wednesday, the Commissioners met in the Courthouse foyer and discussed various topics. The central discussion was about opening up Sheridan County and how we are proceeding to get that accomplished. We are proceeding fairly closely with the timeline outlined by the governor. Next Monday, May 18, the restrictions are relaxed some more and allowing more freedom to open and operate businesses. The next phase is June 1, where almost all restrictions are removed. Our governor will issue executive orders as we move into the next phase.

As many businesses have been ordered to close, the second half of property taxes were due this past Monday, May 11. The following is a press release from the office of the Senate President, Senator Susan Wagle.

May 9, 2020 SENATE PRESIDENT SUSAN WAGLE VOWS RELIEF ON PROPERTY TAX DEADLINE

TOPEKA, KS – The annual Kansas property tax deadline is Sunday, May 10, 2020 (moved to Monday, May 11). With no time to waste in delaying what is an impossible payment for many businesses and families, Senate President Susan Wagle releases the following statement:

"Requiring Kansas businesses, that have been closed for weeks, and unemployed homeowners to meet the deadline for a significant property tax expense is absolutely hypocritical. We cannot force an economic closure and stay at home orders and still require Kansans to fund government expenses."

Senate President Wagle has instructed the Senate Tax and Assessment Committee to meet at the Kansas Statehouse Wednesday May 13, 2020 to address the situation saying, "The committee will develop indisputable legislation to pass and bring to the Governor's desk for a signature. I want to assure Kansans we will work to erase all penalties and interest for at least the next 60 day."

It is encouraging to see that we have legislators in Topeka that genuinely care and support our small businesses here in Kansas. We also have a great community here in Sheridan County, Hoxie, and Selden that care about our local businesses. As we move forward, I am sure we will support our businesses and help them recover from the unfair treatment they have been asked to endure.

We also need to be aware of all the road improvements that have been made and the ongoing work in repairing a great number of other problem areas in our county roads. We have a new culture in our county road department where we are all working together with farmers, private contractors, contract mowers, and contract sand haulers to get our roads re-elevated, sanded and repaired. In my 4-21-2020 article, I reported that we have an objective to rebuild 50 to 75 miles of county roads this year. We are well on our way to achieving this objective. We also will be making decisions about some of our old bridges. The big news here is our new culture of working together is producing wonderful results and the whole attitude about our county roads is positive because we are working together with the same objective to get our roads fixed. Thanks to everyone who is helping in this endeavor.

Thanks for reading and GOD Bless!
WES BAINTER, Sheridan County Commissioner

FRAZEY'S ROCKIN' ROCKS

If you are from Hoxie and haven't heard at least a tidbit about Linda Frazey's rock collection, you may have been literally living under one of those rocks. Big - Small - Round - Odd - She has them all! Past students of hers have painted rocks in appreciation of her teaching career, 49 years in the making.

Born and raised in Hoxie, Linda has dedicated her life to teaching students, whom she can "never walk away from." After graduating Hoxie High School in 1967, Linda attended Fort Hays and earned her degree in teaching, and immediately started teaching 2nd grade. She spent 28 years as a 2nd grade teacher, 2 years in the 1st grade classroom and 19 years as a Reading Specialist for Hoxie Community Schools.

"It's been a wonderful career and I've been truly blessed," Mrs. Frazey states. Throughout the years Linda has adapted with changing times, new technology, changes in faculty. She misses the Pow Wow for the Hoxie Indian students. One thing that never changed was her love for new students to teach every year.

'Retirement' is not exactly an accurate word for Linda's future plans. She will continue volunteering by teaching students, working in the Parents as Teachers program and other activities. Currently, her new love is learning about dyslexia and ways to teach students to be able to conquer it and working with special needs students.

As more and more rocks arrive almost daily either by porch delivery or in the mail, Linda finds much joy in reminiscing about the hundreds of students she has taught and have all touched her heart dearly.

The count is well over 250, and Linda invites everyone to come take a look.

Community & SCHC News

Ever have one of those weeks? You know, where everything you touch goes to heck? Yep, that was my week. Oh, it started good enough with some catfish being caught, then had a great time turkey hunting and fishing with my son. No turkeys, but we had fun just the same. Even found a few Morel mushrooms. Those are yummy!!!! But Friday things took a dive. Drove to the lake to look for turkeys. Areas I was wanting to check on were blocked off for prescribed burning, so I gave up and came home. Went to check the mail and came out to my truck spewing brown gunk all over the place. It seems that before I bought it, someone had mixed two different antifreeze's in it - and they were not compatible. I found the leak too, right where I'm going to have to dismantle everything on the front of the engine to fix. On the bright side, I do have a new radiator to put in it too, so it's not all bad. Not good, but not bad.

Fishing's been great the last two weeks! Pretty well everything you can imagine is biting, and some huge catches of crappie are being seen, and some lunker bass as well. Also saw some blue catfish well over 50 pounds caught at Milford. Maybe I should try there again! Walleye are done spawning, so they'll be showing up on the flats soon. Time for night crawlers! Going to go fish for the weekend starting Friday, I will report on the results.

I have to say something. When you consider what all that hospital housekeepers have to deal with, they don't get paid near enough, and as a general rule, they get treated like the bottom of the barrel. It's just not right. They put their own health and lives in danger and for what? Peanuts. My hat's off to you folks! You are way too underappreciated! But not by me!

So, are you all still scared of the big bad virus? Are you still hiding in your safe place crying about the end of everything? Well, not in this house. I have not hidden, nor have I stopped working at any of the three jobs I have. And I won't. The governors 'order' is full of crap. You cannot be arrested for doing what you're constitutionally guaranteed is your right! You do know why this is all happening, don't you? It's to try to destroy the economy and ultimately this president. The Democrats are actually giddy with the results of all this! On an aside, if you are arrested, sue like hell for violation of their oath to defend the Constitution from enemies both foreign, and domestic.

I see Obama is running his mouth again. It figures, since he was a horrible president, now more than ever he wants Trump to fail. It's kind of sad really, that people would support a party as outright treasonous as the Democrats boggles my mind. It's not about what's right with them anymore. It's all about power. A lustful greed for power, no matter the cost of people lives or livelihoods. Disgusting.

A few weeks back, someone mentioned that maybe I should run for an office. Maybe stop some of the nonsense and downright unlawful behavior by politicians. Hmm, just maybe.

Well, that's about all I have for now. Get out there people, go eat and support the restaurants and cafe's. They need your support now more than ever. Until next time, stay safe and enjoy the outside.

Water Baptism Followed by A Baptism of Fire

By Don Follis
May 10, 2020

In late February during my 8th-grade year, a city-wide church meeting came through Colby, Kansas. The evening meetings featured a 6'5" preacher, a former NFL defensive tackle named Bill Glass.

Speaking to all 5 kids at the dinner table, my mother laid down the law, like she rarely did. We all would attend each night of the week-long church meetings. No exceptions. She cornered me and said, "You're going to have a chance to walk to the front and make a decision. Just like we see when we watch Billy Graham on television."

During the meetings, I waited until Thursday night to leave my seat and walk to the front as the towering football player-preacher called people to come to the front of the High School gym to "make a decision for Jesus."

Weeks later, I was baptized on Easter Sunday, along with a church friend. There was no sheltering-in-place that Easter. My mom invited the Grandparents to celebrate with an Easter dinner. Before leaving the church building after my Easter baptism, the pastor handed me a baptismal certificate. Mom placed it beside the white-frosted Easter Bunny cake sitting on a bed of green-dyed coconut.

A few days after our baptism, my friend told me he was joining his dad's harvest crew for the summer. He wanted me to come along. That meant spending two months traveling from Oklahoma to South Dakota harvesting the wheat crop.

My parents were reluctant to let me go, but they finally relented. I guess they figured because my friend's dad was a church leader he would look after me. Anyway, my name was added to the rag-tag crew of 10 men - a few college boys and a few seasonal hired men in their 40s and 50s.

This is what a harvest caravan looked like in the late 1950s, about a dozen years before I got my chance to be a wheat harvester.

So, on an early June morning at 6am, I threw my duffel bag in the bed of a pickup and jumped in the cab, along with my red hair, my voice that was beginning to change and my peach-fuzz face. All day long our caravan of trucks and combines lumbered 350 miles south through Kansas. By late-afternoon, the convoy crossed the Kansas/Oklahoma border. Within minutes, the procession pulled into the farmyard of the first customer.

The crew immediately began unloading and preparing the equipment, using 5/16th-inch combination wrenches and tools I had never seen. One guy yelled at me, "Get me that grease gun sitting on the header." I never had heard of either. Mostly I chewed my fingernails and watched.

That evening the crew made a fire and drank beer. The boss was in the middle of it all. I wanted to go back home and play summer baseball with my friends. When my friend and I went to bed in the camper we shared with his dad, it smelled like beer.

I had brought a Bible and a devotion book that was given me the night I walked to the front at the revival meeting. One of the crew members saw me with them the next morning and said, "Hey buddy, you're not going to need those this summer."

Though I finally got the hang of the job, I daydreamed about playing baseball. As the summer dragged on, I just wanted it to be over. One day in late July in northern Nebraska, one of the college boys crashed and totaled one of the trucks, nearly killing himself, and landing himself in a Valentine, Nebraska, hospital for several days.

The boss drank way too much that night, as he tried to figure out what to do next. Even with his son sitting next to him, he got surly with me. "You know, Follis," he said, "you're the first kid who has ever worked for me that I couldn't teach to do this job." I froze but said nothing.

Mercifully, the wheat harvest season ended in South Dakota in early August. The crew headed back to Kansas. When the boss dropped me off at my home, he said, "Total up the hours you worked this summer and give it to me. I'll settle up with you." He never had mentioned that before. Grabbing my bag out of the back of his pickup, I muttered good bye and walked into my house.

Twelve years later and newly ordained into the ministry, I was invited to return home and preach. The old harvest crew boss was there that day. I hadn't spoken to him for years.

After the service, he came up to me, stuck out his hand and said, "I never thought you could do it." When I saw his weathered hand, I knew he needed love and forgiveness as much as I did. My hand lifted from my side and stuck to his. Giving it a strong shake, I smiled and said, "God bless you, sir." He smiled back, nodded and walked out the door.

A slight difficulty occurred in the store of John Winkelman last Tuesday that for a little while looked as though blood might be shed, but second thoughts and a cooling off caused the matter to stop.

The Commercial Hotel (formerly known as the Central) was again opened to the public last Monday. A large addition is being built thereto which is rapidly nearing completion, and when finished, the Commercial will have a sufficiency of rooms and beds. The Commercial especially invites the attention of the travelling public to the fact that every convenience will be afforded them, such as good sample rooms etc. The old part of the house is also being remodeled, painted etc.

Selden to Witness Last Great Cattle Drive

At the conclusion of the Civil War the United States was experiencing a shortage of beef in the northeast that couldn't be met by the war-torn south. The market turned to the vast, wild Texas herds as a supplier.

In the next two decades, literally millions of Texas Longhorns were rounded up, branded and driven northward up the Chisholm and Western Trails into the heart of the nation.

A Texan's desire to recreate one last cattle drive from the Lone Star State to Montana grew from a dream in 1989 to the reality of the Great American Cattle Drive in 1995. After planning, postponement, and more planning, the drive was off to a start and is now well on its way to Miles City, Mont. One small stretch of the 1800 mile trail drive is expected to pass through the northwest corner of Sheridan County and the City of Selden. Originally planned for farther west, it has been rerouted to follow U.S. Highway 83 from Garden City to McCook, resulting in the close approximation the old path of the Western Trail.

4-H Resilience Fund Created to Empower Kansas Youth

Donors Provide $25,000 Matching Gift
MANHATTAN, Kan. May 8, 2020— 4-H is built on personal interactions between youth and caring adults, and without in-person activities, Kansas 4-H and Rock Springs Ranch are facing the challenge of delivering 4-H in new ways. The COVID-19 4-H Resilience Fund was created to support the critical and immediate needs of the 4-H youth development program and Rock Springs Ranch.

A matching fund of $25,000 was established to encourage additional gifts and double the support given to Kansas 4-H. Foundation Past Chair Molly McVicker and her husband Earl and Foundation Chair Warren Weibert and wife Carol each gave $10,000 to the matching fund.

"The magnitude of impact Kansas 4-H has on our youth and communities is incredible," Molly McVicker said. "It is vital that Kansas 4-H continues to provide educational opportunities during this time when youth are feeling the loss of other summer activities."

Foundation Trustee Jim Gordon and wife Deb, long-time Kansas 4-H donors, felt inspired and provided an additional $5,000 to the matching fund for a total of $25,000 to be matched.

Over 70,000 young people experience 4-H each year across Kansas. Gifts to the 4-H Resilience Fund will support those youth through programming designed to reach youth at their learning level, support for our volunteer educators and new, innovative platforms to deliver 4-H experiences.

"4-H teaches youth life lessons like perseverance and adaptability - skills that are greatly needed at this time," McVicker said.

To make a gift to the 4-H Resilience Fund, visit kansas4hfoundation.org/give/nov.

The Kansas 4-H Foundation works with businesses, organizations, individuals and families who share a common desire to support a statewide effort of growing our future leaders. The Foundation is the 501(c)(3) fundraising arm for Kansas 4-H, the state's largest youth development program, as well as Rock Springs Ranch.

Energy Bills Going Back on Normal Schedule

In responding to the COVID-19 pandemic, Midwest Energy on March 16 announced it was voluntarily suspending disconnection of utilities for non-payment. The next day, Kansas Governor Laura Kelly signed executive order 20-05, suspending utility disconnections; that order was later extended through May 31. Now, as Kansas begins a phased return to opening businesses, Midwest Energy reminds customers that energy bills are payable on normal schedules, beginning June 1.

"We're asking customers whose accounts are not current to have a payment plan in place by June 1 in order to avoid any inconvenience," said Bob Muirhead, Midwest Energy's Vice President for Customer Service. "We know this is a difficult time, and we will work with customers and be flexible in adjusting and extending payment arrangements."

Muirhead noted that while Midwest Energy's walk-in offices will likely remain closed for the near future, "All services can be provided by internet or phone." Customer Service Representatives are available from 8 am to 5 pm Monday through Friday and can be reached at 1-800-222-3121. While most payment drop boxes remain open, Muirhead said cash payments are not accepted in the boxes. Checks, money orders and bank draft enrollment forms are accepted in payment drop boxes. Electronic bank or credit card payments can be made online, and credit card payments can also be made by phone.

For those struggling to pay bills, the State of Kansas has extended the application period for the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) through May 29. You can learn more and apply by calling the Department of Children and Family Services, at 1-800-432-0043.

"We know this is a stressful time for everyone, and we're going to work with you," Muirhead said. "Please give us a call, and from there we'll do what we can to help everyone get through this," he added.

Committees Called to Secure Legislative Oversight and Move Toward Recovery

Topeka, KS - With just one day on the Senate floor to secure legislative oversight, pass critical property tax relief bills and help the unemployed in Kansas, Senate leadership met this morning to create a detailed and efficient committee agenda.

Senate President Susan Wagle has directed the chairs of the Judiciary, Commerce, Tax, and Financial Institutions and Insurance Committees to begin meetings as soon as possible. "Given the situation we are in with only one day of floor debate, our dedicated committee chairs agree it is their responsibility to hear full testimony and bring thoroughly vetted bills to the floor for quick debate. It is crucial that Kansans' voices are heard as we focus our attention towards a plan for economic recovery."

The Federal Cares Act dedicated a significant aid package to help the Kansas economy deal with the devastating effects of COVID-19 and Majority Leader Jim Denning clearly stated those dollars should not be spent by a sole executive without input from the people's representatives. "The most important duty delegated to our legislative body is to be the fiscal steward of taxpayer funds. For the legislature not to have some oversight of $1.25 billion in federal funding would be unprecedented," says Denning.

Senate Vice President Jeff Longbine said allowing businesses to open is simply not enough for owners to recover. "The legislature must act before adjourning to allow businesses to access low interest capital, limit liability caused by the disease, remove costly penalties and interest on unpaid taxes, and provide the support needed to improve our economy," says Longbine.

Senate President Susan Wagle says, "Our forefathers created checks and balances on political authority. Some of the Governor's emergency directives have contradicted our statutes, leaving the state open for litigation; not to mention the discriminatory directives aimed at some businesses but not others. Thousands of unemployed Kansans are still without the federal aid they've been promised. Uncertainty abounds regarding the Governor's plan to re-open Kansas safely and what she may do in the coming months when the legislature is not in session. Those issues must be addressed."

Using an abundance of caution during this critical work, medical personnel will be on hand to offer masks, provide instructions on social distancing, and take temperatures.

Overwhelming Support in Kansas U.S. Senate Race for Term Limits on Congress

Washington, DC - U.S. Term Limits (USTL), the leader in the non-partisan national movement to limit terms for elected officials, praises 2020 U.S. Senate candidate for Kansas, Dave Lindstrom, for signing the pledge for an amendment to term limit Congress. Previously, candidates Bob Hamilton, Roger Marshall and Kris Kobach also signed the pledge. The primary election for Kansas U.S. Senate is scheduled for August 4, 2020.

U.S. Term Limits has the support of 70 pledge signers in Congress. USTL President Philip Blumel commented on their pledges saying, "This strong support of term limits shows that there are individuals who are willing to put self-interest aside to follow the will of the people. America needs a Congress that will be served by citizen legislators, not career politicians."

The U.S. Term Limits amendment pledge is provided to every announced candidate for federal office. It reads, "I pledge that as a member of Congress, I will cosponsor and vote for the U.S. Term Limits amendment of three (3) House terms and two (2) Senate terms and no longer limit." The U.S. Term Limits constitutional amendment has been introduced in both the U.S. Senate by Senator Ted Cruz (SJR1) and the U.S. House by Representative Francis Rooney (HJR20).

Blumel noted, "We have seen a dramatic increase in supporters wanting term limits on Congress. More than 82% of Americans have rejected the career politician model and want to replace it with citizen leadership. The way to achieve that goal is through congressional term limits."

According to a 2018 nationwide poll on term limits conducted by McLaughlin & Associates, term limits enjoy wide bipartisan support. McLaughlin's analysis states, "Support for term limits is broad and strong across all political, geographic and demographic groups. An overwhelming 82% of voters approve of a constitutional amendment that will place term limits on members of Congress." Blumel concluded, "America is in trouble. Our career politicians have let the people down. It is time to return control of our nation to the people. It is time for a constitutional amendment limiting congressional terms."

The term limits amendment resolutions would require a two-thirds majority in the House and Senate, and ratification by 38 states, in order to become part of the U.S. Constitution.

Congressional term limits is the one bipartisan issue supported by both President Trump and former President Obama.

Eight More District Courts to Process Marriage Licenses

TOPEKA—Eight more district courts will resume issuing marriage licenses using a process that doesn't require in-person contact.

District courts in Barton, Leavenworth, Lyon, Miami, Pawnee, Reno, Saline, and Thomas counties will begin processing new marriage license applications starting Wednesday, May 13.

Applicants must call a court to begin the process.

People who live in these counties will now be able to choose from 14 court locations to get a marriage license. Locally, it is Thomas County District Court in Colby (785-460-4540).

Courts will receive applications by encrypted email or mail

Marriage license paperwork requires the applicant to provide a photo identification that includes personally identifiable information, such as date of birth, Social Security number, or driver's license number. To protect this information, courts will begin an encrypted email exchange with the applicant through which the applicant will return completed paperwork.

If an applicant does not have email, courts will also send and receive paperwork by U.S. mail.

Fulfilling the oath requirement

Marriage license applicants previously were required to appear in person in the clerk of court's office to swear an oath that includes affirming:

- they are of lawful age to marry or have necessary consent to marry
- are not related in degrees prohibited by law

- no legal reason exists why they should not marry

Under the new process, applicants will make this affirmation on paper.

Prior marriage license applications will not be processed. If a person submitted a marriage license application before courts closed to in-person contact on March 18, and the marriage license was not issued, the person will need to submit a new application to a court issuing marriage licenses using this new process. This applies even if the earlier application was submitted to a court that will now issue marriage licenses, and it is to ensure all requirements are met.

On May 1, the Chief Justice issued six new administrative orders to provide updated direction to state courts and court users as the state slowly reopens following a plan outlined by the Governor April 30.

Under these orders, courts will gradually increase the number and types of service delivered to the people of Kansas.

State courts have been operating in a limited capacity since March 18 under earlier Supreme Court orders issued in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Courts initially were restricted to only essential functions, but they were later permitted to perform additional functions to the extent local resources and circumstances allowed.

Kansas Receives Grant to Transform the Kansas Early Childhood System

Governor Laura Kelly and other early childhood leaders from across Kansas announced today that an $8.9 million grant from the Administration for Children and Families has been awarded to continue efforts to strengthen the early childhood system in Kansas. The funding is the first installment of a 3-year renewal of Kansas's Preschool Development Grant Birth Through Five (PDG B-5) initiative.

"These funds will be imperative in helping to keep up our current momentum as we work to improve our state's early childhood system," Governor Kelly said. "This grant is particularly welcome now, as the COVID-19 pandemic has caused an additional degree of stress on early childhood in Kansas. With it, we will continue to fight for the health and safety of children and families in our state."

Leaders from the Kansas Children's Cabinet and Trust Fund, the Kansas State Department of Education, the Kansas Department of Health and Environment and the Kansas Department of Children and Families began this collaborative work with a PDG B-5 planning grant in January 2019. The initial grant funded a comprehensive statewide needs assessment, which illuminated what Kansans need and want from their early childhood care and education system.

Over 6,100 parents, early childcare and education professionals, civic and business leaders, and community members provided input. Addressing the findings from these efforts is the foundation of a new statewide strategic plan for early childhood, which was finalized earlier this month.

"After touring the state throughout 2019, it's clear that although Kansans recognize the importance of high-quality early childhood programs and services, we have work to do," said Melissa Rooker, Executive Director of the Kansas Children's Cabinet and Trust Fund. "This grant will allow us to focus on implementation of our strategic plan as we work to strengthen our system and achieve our vision that every Kansas child has the best possible start in life."

Funding from this grant will support systems-alignment, infrastructure, and innovation at the local and state level. Kansans can expect to see investments in activities that build a sustainable infrastructure for the early childhood system.

Visit the Systems Building tab at www.kschildrenscabinet.org for more information and to stay engaged in the work to strengthen the early childhood system in the coming years.

Funds for this project are provided through the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), Administration for Children and Families (ACF) Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA). The Preschool Development Grant Birth through Five 90TP0016-01-00 ($4,482,305) was awarded to the Kansas State Department of Education (KSDE). The Kansas Children's Cabinet and Trust Fund, the Kansas Department for Children and Families, and the Kansas Department of Health and Environment are leading this work with KSDE. This information or content and conclusions should not be construed as the official position or policy of, nor should any endorsements be inferred by HHS, ACF, or the U.S. Government.

Wheat, Stripe Rust, and Bagworms

By Keith P. VanSki, Twin Creeks Extension District Agronomy, Natural Resources, District Agent

With wheat near the boot stage and approaching heading in many parts of Kansas, producers are considering the use of fungicides to manage foliar diseases and protect the yield potential of their crop. Susceptible varieties are at highest risk for yield loss when environmental conditions are favorable for disease development. K-State research has found that a single application can result in a 4-13% yield increase in susceptible varieties relative to wheat that remained untreated.

The publication Foliar Fungicide Efficacy for Wheat Disease Management has been updated and can be found at: <http://www.bookstore.ksre.ksu.edu/pubs/EP130.pdf>. The recommendations in this publication reflect several years of head-to-head comparisons of products in Kansas and many other wheat producing states.

Producers should scout for symptoms of foliar diseases in the upper canopy, and particularly near the flag leaves of primary tillers. Damage to the flag leaf is most associated with reduced yield. Scouting efforts from across Kansas have reported several new occurrences of stripe rust this week. So far, incidence has generally been low. Lower canopy infections are less likely to result in yield reductions. When environmental conditions are favorable (extended periods of dew, for example), infections in the lower leaves may spread to the upper canopy and neighboring plants, resulting in reduced yield. Spread within a field and symptoms that have moved to the upper canopy may warrant a fungicide application. To preserve yield, it is critical to protect the flag leaf.

Stripe rust presents with characteristic yellow lesions that form in narrow bands across the leaf. When conditions are right, spores may spread to and infect the upper canopy. It is important to walk into the field during scouting campaigns and to move the canopy aside to get a good view of lower leaves. Walking several parts of the field is a good idea, as stripe rust can tend to form spots of high disease severity, which can be easy to miss from the edge of the field.

Timing is critical in many things, including controlling bagworms. Though handpicking is effective through much of the year, often

Resources for Small Meat Producers & Processors

The Niche Meat Processor Assistance Network (NMPAN) runs a listserv for folks involved with meat and poultry processing. Register at their website (<https://www.nichemeatprocessing.org/>)

This webinar on Business Strategies for Small Meat Processors discusses what COVID-19 means for small processors, labor laws, food safety, and more.

For meat processors located in communities that receive HUD CDBG funding, some funding may be used towards COVID needs. There is a Quick Guide on the HUD website (<https://bit.ly/2YUg2Sj>)

Call to Action: There is a request to urge Congress to sign on to the PRIME Act to increase access to local meat by repealing the ban on sale of meat processed by custom slaughterhouses that meet state regulations and basic federal requirements. For ways to assist with getting this to the public, go to their website (<https://bit.ly/2SWs89B>).

Kansas Crop Progress and Condition

MANHATTAN, KS, May 11, 2020 - For the week ending May 10, 2020, there were 5.5 days suitable for fieldwork, according to the USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service. Topsoil moisture supplies rated 11 percent very short, 33 short, 52 adequate, and 4 surplus. Subsoil moisture supplies rated 8 percent very short, 23 short, 67 adequate, and 2 surplus.

Field Crops Report: Winter wheat condition rated 7 percent very poor, 17 poor, 38 fair, 33 good, and 5 excellent. Winter wheat jointed was 89 percent, near 86 last year. Headed was 39 percent, ahead of 29 last year, but behind 56 for the five-year average.

Corn planted was 61 percent, ahead of 45 last year, and near 58 average. Emerged was 29 percent, ahead of 23 last year, but near 32 average.

Soybeans planted was 23 percent, ahead of 6 last year and 11 average. Emerged was 6 percent, near 2 average.

Sorghum planted was 5 percent, near 1 last year and 2 average.

Cotton planted was 18 percent, ahead of 5 last year and 3 average.

Sunflowers planted was 2 percent, near 1 last year.

Pasture and Range Report: Pasture and range conditions rated 3 percent very poor, 11 poor, 32 fair, 48 good, and 6 excellent.

it is impractical because of the sheer number of bagworms. However, if you only see a few bags, now would be a good time to pick them off and destroy them. As we mentioned above, large populations of bagworms can make handpicking impractical. In such cases, spraying is recommended. New bagworms will likely hatch and leave the mother's bag in May, but spraying is usually not recommended until June. Spraying now will be ineffective because the young are too well protected inside their mother's bag. We also have a brochure on “Bagworms” at your local Twin Creeks Extension Office.

USDA Approves $1.2 Billion Food Purchases for America's Food Insecurity

The USDA approved $1.2 billion in contracts for the Farmers to Families Food Box Program designed to connect excess meat, dairy and produce on farms with families facing food insecurity. The funding, far exceeds the $100 million per month the department initially planned for the program, due to high interest and need. The program will purchase $461 million in fresh fruits and vegetables, $317 million in dairy, $258 million in meat, and $175 million in a combination box of fresh produce, dairy or meat products.

The American Farm Bureau Federation and Feeding America, the country's largest hunger relief organization, sent a letter to the USDA requesting a nimble approach to quickly and effectively get food from America's farms to the nation's food banks and others addressing food insecurity.

“We applaud the USDA for its quick action and flexibility in finding a way to get food from America's farms to the dinner tables of those who need it most,” says American Farm Bureau Federation President Zippy Duvall. “These food purchases will help the hungry while providing income to farmers and ranchers who have seen some markets for their food disappear during the COVID-19 pandemic.”

“The American Farm Bureau and Feeding America were among the first to call for a quick solution that links farmers with the nation's food banks. USDA's responsiveness and the early success of the food box program give hope to those in need and to farmers who have food ready to be harvested.”

Background:
• The USDA is authorized to spend up to $3 billion through the Coronavirus Food Assistance Program (CFAP).

• These initial contracts will distribute food from May 15 through June 30, 2020.

USDA Farmers to Families Food Box

As part of the Coronavirus Farm Assistance Program Secretary Perdue announced on April 17 that the USDA is exercising authority under the Families First Coronavirus Response Act to purchase and distribute up to $3 billion of agricultural products to those in need. USDA will partner with regional and local distributors, whose workforce has been significantly impacted by the closure of many restaurants, hotels, and other food service entities, to purchase fresh produce, dairy, and meat.

USDA will issue a solicitation to invite proposals from offerors to supply commodity boxes to non-profit organizations, identified by the offeror, on a mutually agreeable, recurring schedule. USDA will award contracts for the purchase of the agricultural products, the assembly of commodity boxes and delivery to identified non-profit organizations that can receive, store and distribute food items.

Agricultural Marketing Service's Commodity Procurement Program will procure an estimated $100 million per month in fresh fruits and vegetables, $100 million per month in a variety of dairy products, and $100 million per month in meat products. The distributors and wholesalers will then provide a pre-approved box of fresh produce, dairy, and meat products to food banks, community and faith-based organizations, and other non-profits serving Americans in need.

America's Meatpacking Facilities Reopening

(Washington, D.C., May 8, 2020) - U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue today applauded the safe reopening of critical infrastructure meatpacking facilities across the United States. These meatpacking facilities have resumed or plan to resume operations this week following President Trump's Executive Order directing the facilities to implement the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and the Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) guidelines specifically created for the meat and poultry sector response to the COVID-19 pandemic. The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) in conjunction with the CDC and state and local health officials have been working around the clock to ensure a safe and stable supply of protein is available for American consumers all while keeping employees safe.

“President Trump took decisive action last week to ensure America's meatpacking facilities reopen in a safe way to ensure America's producers and ranchers will be able to bring their product to market,” said Secretary Perdue. “I want to thank the patriotic and heroic meatpacking facility workers who are returning to work this week so the millions of Americans who depend on them for food security can continue to do so.”

The following major meatpacking facilities are resuming operations across the United States this past week:

- Tyson Perry, IA (pork)
- Tyson Waterloo, IA (pork)

- Tyson Logansport, IN (pork)

- Tyson Robards, KY (poultry)

- Tyson Portland, ME (further processor)
- Tyson Pasco, WA (beef)
- Tyson Dakota City, NE (beef)
- Aurora Packing, Aurora, IL (beef)
- JBS Green Bay, WI (beef)
- JBS Worthington, MN (pork)
- Smithfield Monmouth, IL (pork)
- Smithfield Sioux Falls, SD (pork)
- Indiana Packers, IN (pork)
- Jennie-O Turkey Store, Wilmar, MN (poultry)

Background:
CDC and OSHA have put out guidance for plants to implement to help ensure employee safety to reopen plants or to continue to operate those still open. Under the Executive Order and the authority of the Defense Production Act, USDA will work with meat processing facilities to affirm they will operate in accordance with the CDC and OSHA guidance, and then work with state and local officials to ensure that these plants are allowed to operate to produce the meat protein that Americans need. USDA will continue to work with the CDC, OSHA, FDA, and state and local officials to ensure that facilities implementing this guidance to keep employees safe can continue operating.

On May 5, 2020 Secretary Perdue issued letters to Governors across the nation and leadership of major meat processing companies. These letters establish the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) clear expectations for the implementation of President Donald J. Trump's Executive Order signed last week.

USDA Announces Grants for Urban Agriculture and Innovative Production

WASHINGTON, May 6, 2020 -The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) today announced the availability of $3 million for grants through its new Office of Urban Agriculture and Innovative Production. The competitive grants will support the development of urban agriculture and innovative production projects through two categories, Planning Projects and Implementation Projects. USDA will accept applications on Grants.gov until midnight July 6, 2020.

“These grant opportunities underscore USDA's commitment to all segments of agriculture, including swiftly expanding areas of urban agriculture,” Under Secretary for Farm Production and Conservation Bill Northey said. “Such projects have the potential to address important issues such as food access and education and to support innovative ways to increase local food production in urban environments.”

“We are proud to be able to offer support though this cross-agency effort,” said Under Secretary for Marketing and Regulatory Programs Greg Ibach. “In creating this grant opportunity, USDA will build upon its years of experience providing technical support, grant funding and research to help farmers and local and urban food businesses grow.”

Implementation Projects
USDA is making available $1 million for Planning Projects that initiate or expand efforts of farmers, gardeners, citizens, government officials, schools and other stakeholders in urban areas and suburbs. Projects may target areas of food access, education, business and start-up costs for new farmers and development of policies related to zoning and other needs of urban production.

USDA is making available $2 million for Implementation Projects that accelerate existing and emerging models of urban, indoor and other agricultural practices that serve multiple farmers. Projects will improve local food access and collaborate with partner organizations and may support infrastructure needs, emerging technologies, educational endeavors and urban farming policy implementation.

Webinar
A webinar, which will be held on June 3, 2020, from 2 to 4 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time, will provide an overview of the grants' purpose, project types, eligibility and basic requirements for submitting an application. Information on how to register for and participate in the webinar, or listen to the recording, will be posted at farmers.gov/urban.

More Information
The Office of Urban Agriculture and Innovative Production was established through the 2018 Farm Bill. It includes representatives from many USDA agencies, including Farm Service Agency and Agricultural Marketing Service, and is led by the Natural Resources Conservation Service. More information is available at farmers.gov/urban.

Additional resources that may be of interest to urban agriculture entities include AMS grants to improve domestic and international opportunities for U.S. growers and producers and FSA loans.

2. Technology will be developed to complement student learning

- Jim Howard delivered the technology report. He received two devices back from insurance claims, commended Denton George for his flexibility and dedication to our technology vision and gave the Board an update on the new phone system regarding faxing capabilities. He concluded with a brief update on Category 1 & 2 E-rate.

3. The Guidance Department will be developed to assist all students to have success in our District

- The Board reviewed a report previously provided to them by Tennille Giancola. Mark Wildeman had no information to add to her report.

Jim Howard shared his Principal's report for Hoxie Grade School. He discussed summer school dates and gave his input and interpretation of what the Governor's Ad Astra plan meant for this annual opportunity for our students. He also gave them an overview of the new reading series to be approved later in the meeting.

Mark Wildeman shared his Principal's report for Hoxie JR/SR High. He discussed the possibilities surrounding graduation and prom, updated the Board on plans for Drivers Education, and noted that since the Safer at Home order had been lifted, some students had been able to meet with their teacher or para in person and in small groups. He concluded by letting them know 95% of the students had been pre-enrolled for the next school year.

Devan Castle gave a brief report on the latest NKESC Board meeting. He encouraged everyone to go to the NKESC website and look at the information related to the EVERS grant. Minutes were provided.

Margery Haas had nothing to report for a Legislative Update.

The Board reviewed the Food Service Report.

Jim Howard shared his Superintendent's report. He discussed events (mainly online meetings) that he had attended, gave an update on our year three KESA visit, and provided summer project updates. He also gave an update on the Greenhouse and held a discussion with the Board on future ideas for curriculum. He obtained a consensus from the Board to pursue the beginning stages of plans to build and/or renovate the concession stand and restrooms at the stadium. He concluded by letting them know he would be pursuing his doctorate starting in August, and that he had been nominated to be a KSSA Board member for our region. He will share the results of that nomination when they are available.

The Board held a discussion on the possibility of opening our facilities to outside organizations at the current time. The consensus was that under normal circumstances this would not be an issue, but due to the overall uncertainty on interpretations of Governor Kelly's Ad Astra plan, it would be better to hold off on making that decision at this time.

Margery Haas moved, and Leonard Weber seconded her motion to approve the increase of adult lunch prices by .10 cents for the 2020-2021 school year. Billi Beckman announced the result as 7-0 in favor.

Leonard Weber moved, and Reba White seconded his motion to approve a monthly cell phone stipend for the three salaried

Sheridan County Health Complex Patient Wing Renovation Hoxie, Kansas

NOTICE TO BIDDERS Reopening of the Bidding Process

Sheridan County Hospital in Hoxie, Kansas is moving forward with reopening the bidding process, temporarily stopped due to the Covid 19 pandemic, for the renovation construction of the hospital patient rooms in their existing facility. The Hospital will receive sealed proposals for both projects until 10:00 AM Central Time on June 4th, 2020 at 826 18th St A, Hoxie, KS 67740. Bid opening will be held publicly by an on-line Zoom Meeting - do not attend in person. The Two Projects are tax exempt and are listed as follow:

Patient Room Renovation Project Package: This is a phased project that consist of a 3,600 sq. ft. patient room and corridors in the existing hospital facility and the addition of 155 sq. ft. Patient Toilet/Shower Rooms. Patients will remain in the facility throughout the duration of construction. There will be four phases of construction to ensure the Hospital is able to maintain approximately 1/2 of the patient rooms for patient usage during the duration of construction. There are 8 alternates as part of the project. If the Owner elects to choose any or all of the alternates, those alternates will be completed as a separate phase from the base bid project.

Courtyard Renovation Project Package: This consist of the removal of a large existing tree and root system, adding a new storm sewer catch basin that will tie into an existing courtyard catch basin, and removal of existing sidewalks and re-pouring new sidewalks to make better the flow of the surface drainage of the courtyard. The removal of the debris and delivery of the construction products are not allowed to go through the building and are to be craned over the roof of the existing building. For this reason, the two projects are being packaged together to allow the construction equipment to be used on both projects at the same time and provide construction efficiencies with the timing of both projects (IE, use of a crane for both project when it is needed at the same time for both projects).

The projects listed above will be worked on as a combined project but are funded separately and have their own set of regulations and guide lines. Both bid packages are to be bid on separately and tracked even though the successful sub-contractors will be working on both projects

The projects consist of furnishing all labor, materials and equipment necessary to complete all work required for the two projects listed above as shown on the drawings and described in the specifications prepared by the Architect, CG ID Architecture, 319 East Francis Suite 101, North Platte, Nebraska. All bids shall be made on the printed proposal forms issued by the Architect. The successful bidder will be required to furnish Corporate Surety Performance and Payment Bonds in a sum equal to 100% of the contract price.

All proposals shall remain in effect for a period of 90 calendar days after the scheduled closing time for the receipt of proposals. Each bid shall be accompanied by an acceptable Bid Bond in the amount of five percent (5%) of the total bid submitted as a guarantee that if awarded the contract, the Bidder will promptly enter into a contract. If bid security is not received with the proposal, the bid will not be considered.

Plans and specifications may be examined at the office of the Architect, CG ID Architecture, 319 East Francis Suite 101, North Platte, North Platte; Builder's Plan Service, Great Bend Chamber of Commerce, Great Bend, KS; Hays Area Chamber of Commerce, Hays, KS; Garden City Chamber of Commerce, Garden City, KS; Salina Chamber of Commerce, Salina, KS; Kansas Construction News Report, Wichita, KS; Read Construction Data, Norcross, GA; Dodge Report, I-Square Foot. Copies of plans and specifications may be obtained from A & D Technical Supply of Lincoln upon payment of a $100.00 deposit for each set. The deposit will be refunded upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition within 45 days after the bid opening date. For plan and specifications, A & D Technical Supply at 1822 "N" Street Suite B, Lincoln, NE 68508 can be contacted at; (402) 474-5454, <http://aanddtechnical.com>.

Individual Pre-bid walkthroughs: Potential bidders not familiar with the project can call Justine Wade to schedule a viewing at (785) 677-4113, she will then schedule and screen accordingly. Bidders will be asked to present to the North Side of the facility and call Maintenance Supervisor Tim Lee at (785) 675-3281 to be greeted and gain access into the Hospital. Bidders will then be screened and have their temperature taken prior to being permitted into the facility. Once screened you will be asked to wear a mask and practice social distancing as you are accompanied through the building.

The Owner shall have the right to reject any or all bids and to reject a bid not accompanied by any requiring bid security or by other data required by the bidding documents; or to reject a bid which is in any way incomplete or irregular and to waive any informalities in any proposal. All GC's and ME&P Prime Contractors bidding on these projects are required to provide proof of similar past construction and knowledge of working in a higher acuity care area of a hospital such as a med surg patient wing and following the facilities Construction Risk Assessment Policies and Procedures. The renovation of the patient wing is a USDA financial project. All General Contractors along with Prime ME&P firms bidding on this project are to become familiar with the requirements of the USDA and Sheridan County Health Complex's Construction Risk Assessment Procedures provided in the front end of the specification manual before bidding on the projects.
